contend. In fact the Enemy has little to boast of but the acquisition of some <sup>quantity of</sup> British Artillery, which being the first that has fallen into their hands in the field may afford matter of Triumph to the M. A. M. regret that they should have

The nature of the Country is favourable to the kind of Attack which the Enemy undertakes, - they will sufficiently account for what has happened without any Imputation on the Bravery & conduct of the Troops. - with them W. D. H. has every reason to be
